Greetings from the Mayor

In autumn, the days grow shorter, the air becomes chillier, and Baltimore City Department of Recreation and Parks is busy as ever with fall activities for everyone from kids to seniors.

Biking and hiking, flag football, fall baseball, garden walks: Our goal is to provide a great quality of life and to keep the citizens of Baltimore active for the entire year. Residents and visitors alike can look forward to warm fellowship and hospitality at the special events, programs and activities that continue unabated long after summer.

Once winter arrives, the orioles have flown south, and in Druid Hill Park, the polar bears at The Maryland Zoo in Baltimore are hibernating. The season brings a nice breath of fresh air across the city. And savvy Baltimoreans know that there's plenty of fun and excitement to be had with the Department of Recreation and Parks during those long brisk winter months.

So if you need a moment to recover from your summer, feel free. Then peruse the bountiful programs that are offered at the city's 46 recreation centers, parks and special facilities. It's an opportunity to make new friends, get to know your neighbors and get in on what Baltimore City Department of Recreation and Parks has to offer.

Martin O'Malley,
Mayor

Greetings from the Director

Soon, Baltimoreans will be trading in flavorful ice-shaved snowballs for mugs of steamy hot apple cider, and nippy temperatures will lead to spending a lot more time indoors. At Baltimore City Department of Recreation and Parks, we want you to know that going indoors won't interfere with your recreational enjoyment. We've worked hard to ensure that the wide array of activities offered in our fall/winter program guide will help you maintain an active and healthy lifestyle.

Our three indoor pools, Callowhill Aquatic Center, Cherry Hill Aquatic Center and the Chick Webb Recreation Center Pool, offer classes and activities, designed to accommodate water babies of every level, from novice swimmers seeking basic instruction to avid lap swimmers. Of course, friends and families looking for a place to splash about, take a refreshing dip and/or engage in some low impact aquatic exercises are also welcome.

Whether you're a player or spectator, add a visit to the Dominic "Mimi" DiPietro Family Skating Center, William J. Myers Soccer Pavilion and Clarence "Du" Burns Arena Indoor/Outdoor Sports Complex to your list. All offer classes, clinics and the chance to watch league or professional competitions.

If you start to miss the colorful flowers and foliage that accompany our warmer seasons, make plans to visit Cylburn Arboretum and the Howard Peters Rawlings Conservatory and Botanic Gardens of Baltimore. Explore the grounds to jumpstart your fall. Take in Cylburn's and the Conservatory's annual fall celebrations. Pick up some flora for home, a friend, or the office.

The fall/winter program guide is Baltimore City Department of Recreation and Parks' personal invitation to participate in the myriad of activities that we have planned for you. It is our hope that you will continue to Believe in a Greener, more Fun and Fit city all year long.
